Transformer Update for the Andros 1.2 or Andros II Phonostage with the ESP Supply (Not available for the Andros PS1)

November 6, 2024

What to expect:

- An Increase of 3 dB of gain.
- Enhanced phase coherence, resulting in improved stereo imaging and a wider, deeper sound stage.
- More dynamic sound with better high-frequency response.
- Reduced background noise due to transformer double Mu metal shielding.
- Improved micro-details for precise musical presentation.

What's included:

- A new, custom-designed CineMag Step-up Transformer.
- Replacement of several components throughout the unit.
- Tube testing is included.
- A factory document to certify the update.
- A 90-day warranty on the update.
- A replacement shipping box.
- 24-hour burn-in period before final testing.

What's Not included in the update:

- New tubes (please purchase them directly from your preferred supplier).
- Repair of any pre-existing issues outside the scope of this update. If repairs are necessary, Zesto will provide an estimate and obtain your approval before proceeding.
- Replacement of enclosure parts unless specifically requested; a quote will be provided.
- No new logo badge will be issued, as the transformer update is not an upgrade to a new model.

Pricing:

- Transformer only update: $975
- ESP Supply upgrade only: $1,500
- Combo of Transformer update and ESP Supply upgrade: $2,000
- Transformer update on any Andros II with a previously upgraded ESP Supply: $675
- Shipping charges are additional
